

As Tall As I Am

Inspired by Up to My Knees by Grace Lin

This is an activity for one or more people.

Goal: To find objects that are about as tall as you.

You might use:

- String
- Sticks
- Pieces of cardboard

What to do:

- Find at least three objects that you think are about your same height.
- Compare your own height with the object's height. There are many ways you can do this. For example, stand next to the object or use a piece of string to measure your height and compare to the object's height. Try making comparisons several different ways.
- Tell someone about the objects you chose. Which objects were shorter than you? Which objects were taller? Which objects were about the same height? How did you figure this out?

Other things to try:

- Find objects that are about the same height as different parts of your body. What is as tall as your knee? Your waist? The top of your shoulders?
- Make a measuring tool that you can use to tell whether something is your exact height.
- Figure out which person in your family is closest to your own height.
- Find objects that are half your height. Find objects that are twice your height. If you need help, ask a partner.
